NEWS BY THE PAPERS.

The Ordinance Abolishing Slavery.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Sept. 22—The following ordinance, reported by a special committee, was passed by the Convention this afternoon, after a long and full discussion, eighty-nine voting in the affirmative and three in the negative:

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Alabama in Convention assembled, That as the institution of slavery has been destroyed in the State of Alabama, hereafter there shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in this State, otherwise than for the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall be duly convicted.

And be if further ordained, That the Constitution be amended by striking out all provisions in relation to slaves and slavery.

And be in further ordained, That it shall be the duty of the Legislature at its next session, to pass such laws as will protect the freedmen of this State in the full enjoyment of all their rights of person and property, and guard them and the State against all evil that may arise from their sudden emancipation.

Another ordinance has been introduced granting to freedmen the right of holding property and testifying in courts of justice.

Important from the Alabama Convention.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 25.—A telegram from this city to Northern papers, dated the 15th instant, stating that the Convention decided by a vote of fifty-eight to thirty four against repudiating the State debt, has just been seen here, with comments of New York papers thereon. No such vote was taken concerning the subject of State debt. It was referred to a committee, who will report in a day or two, when the subject for the first time will come before the Convention, and I hope for favorable action. The ordinance for the abolition of slavery was adopted—only three opposing votes—and the ordinance of secession was declared null and void. Everything is going on very satisfactorily for the cause of the Union.

Completion of the Missouri Pacific Railroad. Another Catholic Priest in Jail.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18.—After fifteen years of ups and downs, the Missouri Pacific Railroad will be completed to-morrow; and after a few days delay for ballasting and adjusting the track, passengers and freight trains will run through to Kansas City. Hon. L. M. Kennett, who, as Mayor of St. Louis, broke the first ground on this road in 1850, has gone up the line with George R. Taylor, the President of the Company, to assist in laying the last rail, and to drive the last spike what is destined to be a great link in the grand national highway across the continent.

Father Cummings, a Catholic Priest, residing Louisiana, Mo., was arrested a few days since, taken before Judge Bagg, of the Pike Circuit Court, and sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars, for persisting in preaching without taking the Constitutional oath. Having refused to pay the fine, and declined to permit his friends to pay it for him, the Rev. Father is confined in the county jail. His case will probably be brought before the Supreme Court, for a final decision.

Gen. Fremont will take up his residence here in a few days, for the purpose of putting into operation a very large railroad iron manufactory.

Relief of Southern Cotton Holders.

The Secretary of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue have now under consideration a circular, which will be issued in a day or two, to be directed to the Government Tax Collectors, with a view of relieving the holders of cotton in the Southern States.

Conflict of Authority in Louisiana.

SHREVEPORT, LA., September 23.—The Provost Marshal of Freedmen has arrested the judge, sheriff, district attorney, and the jury of the Tenth Judicial District, for trying a negro on the charge of larceny. The Superintendent of the Freedmen says jurisdiction over the negroes during the existing interpretation of the civil law belongs exclusively to his Bureau. The judge gives notice of an appeal.

Later from Europe.

FARTHER POINT, Sept. 25—The steamer Moravian from Liverpool, has been signalled.

At a meeting of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, the directors' report was unanimously adopted, consequently sanctioning the contract made for the cable next year. The question of raising additional capital was postponed for another meeting on the 12th of October.

The St. Leger race was won by Gladiateur, who was the winner of the Derby.

The Daily News says no time will be lost in giving a check to Fenianism by the Government. The programme will soon be announced.

NEW YORK, September 25.—The London Times suggest that British ships of war treat the Shenandoah as any other pirate, and hopes instructions to that effect be sent to British commanders in the Pacific.

Judah P. Benjamin publishes on the 23d instant, a letter in the Times, denying that the rebel government treated prisoners cruelly, and defending Davis from the charges of inhumanity. The Times on the following day published a letter from Federal naval officers denying Benjamin's statement.

The meeting between Napolean and the Queen of Spain was most cordial.

General Lamoriciere is dead.

The murder of Ott by Count Erfreburg is being investigated by a commission. It is again stated that France has demanded satisfaction of Prussia for the murder.

THE LATEST—THE FENIAN EXCITEMENT.

The Fenian movement continued to cause some apprehensions. A meeting was convened in the county of Cork to consider what steps were necessary to be taken in view of the progress of the Fenian movement in that section.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E PELL, Editor.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1865.

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For six months, - - - - -	$5,00
For one month - - - - -	1,00
" two months - - - - -	2.00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The scarcity of money however, obliges us to say to our friends, that responsible and prompt persons who desire the Sentinel need not delay sending us their names at once, who can send us the Cash in a short time. The money may be sent us by the Rail Road Conductors or the Express Company.

The State Convention.

The responsibilities of this body will be very great. Its duties are scarcely less responsible than they would be if North Carolina were passing from a territorial condition to that of a State. The material of which it will be composed, is good. Many of its members are among our best citizens—equal to the task before them in point of experience, ability and working habits. They have been chosen upon their merits, without the agency of extraneous efforts or demagogical appliances in order to success. Others perhaps, we hope very few, have not been chosen upon grounds so creditable. Knowing the pressure of the pecuniary condition of the people, the exceeding scarcity of money, the privation, owing to the abolition of slavery, of the means of acquiring money, some may have taken advantage of this state of things to urge the necessity of repudiation—a principle which we cannot approve, and which we hope never to see endorsed by the people of North Carolina. This heresy in North Carolina politics may find more advocates in the Convention than we at one time supposed, but we still hope that the sober second thought of our people and of the Convention may put a quietus upon it.

Our people may need relief—protection against the avarice and oppression of those who have hoarded the evidences of the State's and the people's indebtedness, but the Legislative prerogative can most readily prevent all evil from this source by wise, and safe legislation, without in the least pandering to the demoralizing and dangerous doctrine of "rubbing out and beginning anew."

There is evidently a very general anxiety that the Convention should hold a short session. The people are dubious of long, expensive sessions of all bodies intrusted with their interests, which are liable to dally with precious time and are reckless of the public purse. They are right. But there is an extreme on this head, quite as dangerous as the extreme on the other. We desire a short session too, but we believe the interest of the State requires that the Convention should do more than simply to pass such ordinances as are necessary to the restoration of the State to her former position in the Union. There are several very important measures which should claim the attention of the Convention beyond those already suggested, all which however, may be disposed of promptly. These we shall as occasion may require, bring to the notice of the Convention and the public.

Lieutenant-Governor.

We agree with the Standard that the office of Lieutenant-Governor should be created by the approaching Convention. We have long regarded our position in this regard as unfortunate, and our fathers as wanting in foresight, in not providing for so necessary an officer in the State government. The State has been fortunate in its history, that this omission has not caused greater difficulty. The few instances in which the State has been obliged to move on without a Governor selected by the people, has operated more to the disadvantage of the men themselves, who, as the phrase is, have occupied the position created by "accident," rather than to the detriment of the State.

The gentlemen thus filling the office of Governor have been always more or less embarrassed. They have felt all the time, they lacked the moral support created by the direct choice of the people, and being without pledges or promises, have found it difficult to adopt always such a line of policy as would give certain satisfaction. The fact that the people have never selected one such person to fill the office a second term, is a sufficient indication of the necessity of a change in this regard.

Since the choice of the Governor has been fixed by the Constitution to be in the people, we are clearly of opinion that whoever fills it should be designated and selected by them. Casualties will occur by which the office may become vacant, and while it may be equally safe in the event of the death or removal or incompetency of the Governor, to place it in the hands of the Speaker of the Senate, yet to remove all difficulty and to place the matter more entirely under the control of the people, we believe that propriety suggests, that at the time the Governor is elected, a Lieutenant-Governor fully competent to fill the chief office, should be elected and constituted ex officio, the Speaker of the Senate, and whose pay should be the same as that officer, only, while he fills the office—the office to be vacated and to be filled by the Senate immediately upon the accession of the Lieutenant-Governor to the Governorship.

☞ Our friends will please not forget to send by the members to the Convention, subscriptions and cash for the Sentinel.

Chief Justice Pearson.

There was a common desire among people generally that Judge Pearson should be sent to the Convention from Yadkin. Indeed, most persons expected his election certainly, on account of his abilities and eminent fitness for the place. When the disparity between two candidates in the number of votes obtained is not very great, it is often difficult to determine the causes which prevail to elect the one or defeat the other, and hence any special onslought upon particular classes of persons is unbecoming.

A certain print in this city makes much complaint over the defeat of Judge Pearson. It calls him an ultra Union man. It can hardly be true that a man so eminently conservative as the Judge could be ultra in anything. He was a strong Union man before the Lincoln proclamation, but sustained the action of the State when she determined to take sides with the South. He was a supporter of Gov. Vance's administration, but opposed every act of the Confederate Congress as well as the action of Mr. Davis, contrary to the spirit and meaning of the Constitution. Yet the Judge was not beaten by the Vance and Davis war men.—We venture that three fourths of the friends of Gov. Vance voted for the Judge. It is more than probable that he was beaten by his competitor, because he was not an ultra man, because he was opposed to repudiation, because he was a law abiding man. The deserters and the Kirk men and the lawless men generally, do not vote for such men as Judge Pearson. His competitor possibly was much stronger with that class of men, and hence his defeat.

This case is made the text for a general characteristic attack upon the Davis and Vance men. The fear is expressed that so many pardoned rebels have beaten ultra Union men. We do not know of but one such case in the State. Judge Manly, a pardoned rebel, beat two ultra Union men who were Northern men, and but recently citizens of Craven. Does that print grieve over that case? Judge Pearson was a pardoned rebel, but was beaten by a more ultra Union man! B. F. Moore was a pardoned rebel, but he beat John L. Pennington, a far less ultra Union man than Mr. Moore was? Does that print grieve over that? Dr. Leach was a pardoned rebel but he was beaten by an equally ultra Union man.—R. P. Dick, a pardoned rebel beat others quite as ultra Union men as he. If that print will look into the case a little it will find it difficult to sustain its declarations. Indeed, we do not know a pardoned rebel except in the first case named, who has beaten any one in the State more ultra Union than themselves.

Who are the Disunionists?

A Northern gentleman whose business enables him to judge correctly of public sentiment, remarked to us the other day, that he had found no citizen of this State, a disunionist, or who talked disloyalty. He said he had found but one class of men who were opposed to Union, and these were persons holding subordinate positions in the U. S. army. He intimated that they were constantly speaking of the want of Union sentiment, among the people—decrying the public men of the South—calling in question the sincerity of the people. He had heard Gov. Holden denounced more by them as a secessionist, as unsound in his pretensions, than any one else.

We regret to hear this. We do not think such sentiments are entertained either by the chief officers or the soldiers who mix with our people. The soldiers are anxious to close up the war and get home, and they are willing to trust the people of the South. They talk freely with the masses of the people and they find them sincere and sound. Those among the officers who entertain a different opinion, do not mix with the people and hence do not ascertain from proper sources the real state of the case. Some mingle now and then with our young people, especially with our young ladies, who never fail to retort when attacked or to skirmish with them. Or perhaps they would like to prolong hostilities to enjoy a winter in the sunny South, hence they are determined not to be convinced that the South is sincere in desiring reconstruction.

For the Sentinel.

MR EDITOR:—I notice in the Sentinel of this morning, a paragraph copied from the Salisbury Banner, stating that the electric telegraph was first invented by a lawyer who lived in Davidson county, North Carolina.

In noticing the article, you say that "if it be true that a North Carolina lawyer, a resident of Davidson county in this State, was the inventor of the telegraph, his name should be given and the fact should be established."

The lawyer referred to is Junius L. Clemmons, Esq., who was born and raised in the village of Clemmonsville, in said county, was educated at Randolph Macon College, in Virginia, who afterwards studied law—and obtained a license to practice in all the counties of this State. He subsequently located at Lexington, in said county, where he became eminent in his profession. He afterwards removed to Louisville, Kentucky, where he did a lucrative practice. Upon the breaking out of the war, he espoused the cause of the South, and the last the writer heard of him he was a refugee in the State of Georgia, in January, 1865.

It was during his stay at College that Mr. Clemmons, who was a man of fine mind and great powers of application made the great discovery which has since been claimed by Professor Morse. The writer of this has himself heard Mr. Clemmons say that he was the original inventor of the telegraph. But the statement of Mr. Clemmons is not all the evidence which he has upon the subject. More than twenty years ago he heard the Rev. Baxter Clegg say that he was in College with Mr. Clemmons at the time he made the invention, which he communicated to him, explaining to him all the workings of it as well as he could.

This is written as an act of justice to an old friend, but without any hope that it will secure to him the distinction which he deserves.

JUSTICE.

For the Sentinel.

State Debt, Etc.

MR. EDITOR:—The all-absorbing question of the election of delegates to the State Convention has at last been settled by a choice of good men by almost every county in the State. I am of the opinion, however, that the members elect from this county, do not represent the views of the majority of the people. Of course they received a majority of the votes polled, but a great many did not vote at all, thereby allowing themselves to be represented by men whose principles are in direct opposition to their own. The people of this county cant stand an immediate collection of debts, nor are they willing to be taxed to pay the debts of the State for the purpose of aiding the rebellion. And why, I answer, that the rebellion has deprived the people of five sixths of their property, left them in a condition, so far as their finances are concerned, from which years of toil will not release them. I claim for a majority of the State an honesty of purpose, and an ardent desire to meet their just obligations both public and private; but how, I ask, how can this thing be done? Can it be expected that a man worn down by disease can accomplish as much as one in the vigor of health? certainly not. Then Mr. Editor, you have before you a country which but a few short years ago bloomed out in its full light of prosperity; its vast machinery well lubricated with the oil of industry, and aided by a system of labor, the most contented and of the greatest possible benefit to itself and the world at large; it was indeed in the vigor of its health, but how changed? Feeling as is the case with human nature, that while in health, that there is never a day of sickness to come, glorying in its manhood, it went forth to battle, relying upon its strong arms, and now, to-day, what is our condition? Shorn of our strength, wasted and worn down by the ravages of war, our strong arms torn from us, ah yes, ruthlessly torn from us, with no hope of restoration. Had it only been a fracture, we might have had hope of once more being prosperous, but as it is, our hopes are gone, and we never can rise to that state of prosperity from which we have fallen. With this view of the situation the people cry out for relief, for without aid, the one armed man the symbol of our people can do nothing. By reference to political economy we find that labor is the source of all wealth. It does not consist in the lordly mansion, the vast dominions of land, the pomp and show of dress or the countless hordes of gold and silver, for all these things are the proceeds of labor. Then with the loss of negro labor, the main spring of all our prosperity, has been taken from us, the winding chain of industry is no longer of any use, it is one continual turn of the key, but yet the wheels refuse to turn. Therefore, I say give us some relief, we are willing to do what we can, but we feel that that is but little.

As I said in the beginning, that good men had been chosen by almost all of the Counties of the State; we feel encouraged to hope that something may be done for the suffering people. We are well aware that the matters which more particularly concern us, are those over which the Convention ought to have but little control; the course for the Convention to pursue has been marked out by President Johnson, and we hope that there may not be a dissenting voice, but that the President's plan of reorganization may be strictly adhered to, and that we will soon be once more under the protection of a strong Union. After the Convention has done its part, let the people look to it who shall represent them in the Legislature, which will be one of the most important bodies that has met or will meet in the State. It is time now that we should do away with the politician merely as such, and endeavor to reflect credit upon our government by adorning its councils with the talent and conservatism of the nation. "Tis said that human experience like the stern lights of a ship at sea, only serves to illumine the path over which we have passed," and may we not profit by the maxim, and in looking back upon the path which has been revealed to us by experience, may we endeavor to avoid the shoals and quicksands which would inevitably founder our bark, by pursuing the same paths. Let us put the right men at the helm, and we may have the pleasure of pointing to the gallant ship of State as she smoothly glides over the great sea of political difficulties that lie in her track. We would like to recommend some men for our Representatives in Congress, or at least, we would like to call the attention of the people to such men as Lewis Thompson of Bertie, Wm. A. Graham, Edwin G. Read, and such like, whose principles have always accorded with the true policy of the nation, and whose talents and indefatigable energies as public servants, would render them eminently fit to represent any people and of whom North Carolina might justly be proud.

An earnest desire to have something done by which the people can feel some degree of safety in what they have, by which they can be relieved of the fear of being broken up entirely and their little all sold into the hands of those whose business it has been for the past four years, to make their money out of the blood of their suffering countrymen, has prompted me to call attention to these facts. Probably there are those, and it may be there are many who, do not agree with me; but would rather that a greater degree of suffering be inflicted upon us, in order that they may add to their coffers. Your paper calls loudly for political magnanimity, and cant your voice be raised in favor of pecuniary magnanimity, so to speak, towards those whose conditions has already been almost entirely made helpless by the ravages of the late war?

I claim not to be an advocate of repudiation; but at the same time I would rather advocate repudiation than an immediate collection of debts; and I see but little or no benefit to arise from a stay law. For without the means of labor, it is impossible for the indebtedness of the people to be met, and besides a stay law, is as much a violation of contracts as repudiation, yet you will find among the strict constructionists of the constitution, now and then one who though he favors a stay law, yet it would be a sin against the constitution to endeavor in the least degree, to scale or proportion the debts of the people, to their losses Now Mr. Editor, I am in favor of every man paying according to his ability to pay, or in other words, in proportion to what he has left to pay with; for instance, suppose B owned before the war, property amounting to $10,000, and B owed C $3,000, but he has sustained a loss of five-sixths of his property, how I ask is he to pay it? Will the property he has pay the debt? Not according to my calculation. Then what? Must he be turned out of house and home and then not be able to meet his liabilities? You perhaps, Mr. Editor, may not agree with me, but allow me to say in all candor, that the case above is the case of a majority of the people of the South. There must be some relief, and that speedily, or the suffering of the people cannot find utterance in words.

I fear I have extended this too long, however, I shall offer no apology, because I believe the nature of our circumstances requires attention.

VOX POPULI.

President Johnson's Policy--Reconstruction of the Cabinet--Southern Churches--A General Amnesty.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger writes:

The President will fight this radical war to the end. Within one month after the inauguration of our new President, I advised you, on high authority, that in no event would the radical element be favored, and the whole course of Mr. Johnson since has proved the correctness of that assertion. There is no colder quarter of the city to the destructive faction than the white house. Representatives therefrom have called and called, sent card after card, but in most cases the President was too "busy" to attend to them; he is "engaged!" Their calls are less frequent, and they have opened the war outside.

It will be futile! though not without probable serious embarrassment to the President in carrying out the work of "restoration" he has so nobly commenced This is the "new danger that threatens us." As long ago as the 14th of July, the executive saw the cloud of opposition to his policy rising, and then used the above words. His sagacity—far seeing and penetrating—saw it all. To meet the contest he armed at once and planted himself square upon the bulwark of the constitution. To a well known Southerner, last week, he said, "My chart is the constitution. I shall not deviate from it a hair's breadth if I can help it. On that constitution the States must be restored, and the privileges which it confers must be theirs. They are entitled to them and they shall have them!"

The president is firmly anchored there, and it is because he has so fast a hold upon the helm of the national ship, that the waves of fanaticism and discord dash about him. They would beat him from his position, but it will be "thus far and no farther," and they who think otherwise do not know the pilot they are dealing with.

The list of radical complaints thus far made out, and to be presented immediately after the opening of congress, is as follows:

1st. Refusal to extend negro suffrage.

2d. The appointment of secessionists as provisional governors.

3d. The free exercise of the pardoning power, wherein were included many who should have been hanged.

4th. The introduction of arms into the Southern States.

5th. The disbanding of the colored regiments.

6th. The refusal to order a sweeping confiscation.

7th. The restoration of the Southern churches.

8th. The refusal to arraign Lee, the leader of the rebel hosts, after he had been indicted for treason.

9th. The refusal to try Davis by a military court.

10th. The apathy shown in the enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine as applicable to Mexico.

Such is the list so far, and there is no disputing that it is quite formidable; but I repeat, the president is ready, not only for the opening gun, but for all the terrible fire that is expected to follow. That the conservative masses—those who love their country and their whole country; will sustain him in solid column, there can be no question, and this is all the president asks. Grant him this support and he will hand his name down to posterity a second Washington.

The time is not distant when there will be an entire reconstruction of the cabinet. The members whose "time will have come" are Messrs. Stanton, Harlan, Speed and judge advocate Holt. You may rely on what I assert. It is the president's wish that his cabinet shall be a perfectly harmonious one, or as nearly so as possible, and when all is ready the change will be made and the new members duly announced.

Of course, nothing is known as to when the portfolios will be tendered, nor is it likely the names will be divulged until made public by the President himself

Rev. Dr. Newman has had an interview with the President with reference to securing, if possible, one of the Methodist churches at New Orleans for the use of those who have attended upon his preaching during the past two years in that city. The Doctor I hear, represents the number of said attendants at "one hundred," and he thinks it no more than right that one of the three Methodist Episcopal churches in that city should be set apart for their use; in other words, that the edifice shall be known as the property of the northern church. But to this Mr. Johnson most decidedly objected. He considered the churches the rightful property of the trustees, and if the Methodists of the north were anxious for "one church" at the south, "the best way was for them to come together."

The propositions of Bishop Ames to submit the question of "title" to the chief justice of the United States is a ludicrous one, when it is considered that there is, by the decision of the president restoring the churches, no such question at issue. Perhaps the bishop had not then heard of the restoration.

Rumors of a probable general amnesty by proclamation of the president are still current, and it would not surprise me if such a proclamation were issued. As matters now progress, years must elapse before the docket of rebel applicants is cleared, and the best part of the president's time during the whole of that period must necessarily be occupied in hearing the individual cases. I cannot believe that he will much longer continue the present system, but that an important change will be made at an early day.

The Result of the Election.

The result of the election in this State for delegates to the constitutional convention establishes beyond all cavil the fact that the great heart of our people is right. Everywhere the best available men were put forward, and although in nearly every county opposition was made, the best men were elected. Thus we have the best material the State affords in the convention, where it should be. Such men as Moore, Wright, Manly, Dick, Howard, and others—names well known throughout this State as representatives of great ability, uprightness and adaptedness to legislative duties—with all of whom it may be we do not fully agree in all points of political economy—but nevertheless men representing the intelligence and general sentiment of the people. The Convention, so constituted, will certainly be an able and august body, abundantly competent for the responsible duties devolving upon it, and that will reflect credit upon the commonwealth and impress the general government with the sincerity of our purpose to resume our old position in the Union.—Wilmington Herald.

The State Convention assembles in this city next Monday the 2nd inst.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

A Good Thing.—We are glad to learn that our friend Mr P. H. Sasser has made arrangements by which he will supply our market with cabbage, fresh fish, &c., regularly. We learn also that he will have a supply of No. 1 family flour on hand soon. We are pleased to see our young men who have been raised in the lap of plenty, turning their attention to business. Our boys must roll up their sleeves and go to work. The working men are to control the destinies of the country in future, and those who are unwilling to be rolled over must pitch in.

Episcopal Sunday School.—We call attention to the card of those connected with the Episcopal Sunday School in this city in to-days issue. It was crowded out by the pressure upon our columns on yesterday. The object is a most proper one and should enlist all the friends of the enterprise.

Messrs. Baker, Cowper & Co. are enterprising merchants and are doing a heavy business. Their reputation will be fully sustained by their untiring promptness and energy. See advertisements in to-days issue. All business in their line may be committed to them with entire confidence.

To Members of the Convention.

Good board and rooms for eight or ten members of the Convention can be obtained in the City, at a private residence, not far from the Capitol, on application to the Editor of the Sentinel.

Direct Trade.—See the advertisement of Hughes & Dill. The ship Benj. Adams, it will be seen, is up at Morehead City for freight direct to Liverpool. Send on your cotton and naval stores.

Won't Use Any Other.

The last and best; the right article finally; everybody likes it; is purely vegetable; restores Grey Hair in four weeks, or money refunded. It will do it every time, sure pop. Three applications will cure all humors of the scalp. Ask for Webster's Vegetable Hair Invigorator, and don't take any other.

Progressive.—The Raleigh Progress says:
"Jubal Early was one of the most violent secessionists in the Virginia Convention of 1861."
Too much devotion to Progress impairs memory; Jubal Early was a violent, uncompromising Union man up to the secession of the State.—Petersburg Index.

At a meeting of the New York College of Physicians, held a few evenings since, one of the speakers, Dr. Driscomb, prophesied that the cholera would make its appearance in this country within three weeks.

The Extent of the Public Debt.—Thad. Stevens, the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, of the late Congress, and whose position required him to be constantly informed of the true condition of the finances, and the extent of the public debt, in a recent speech at Lancaster, Pa., in speaking of the public debt, said:

"It is generally estimated at four billions; in my opinion it will go far beyond that figure.—There is no use in beliuling it. It can only deceive the ignorant, and those only for a time. It can not deceive financiers. One-half of it now bears interest, and the interest amounts to one hundred and twenty millions per annum. The ordinary expenses of carrying on the government, and the sums required for the army and navy, will swell our annual expenditures to five hundred millions of dollars. The amount derived from internal revenue will diminish—taxation must be double what it now is to meet expenses. Can our people bear this? It will be a curse from generation to generation. We pity the tax ground Englishman. In reality we are worse off than he. Our debt is only a trifle less, and it bears double the rate of interest. In the future our burthens must be double his."

The Comet Coming.—The comet of Beila is nearing its perihelion, and will soon be visible in the heavens. It has rather a long journey to perform, being at present about one hundred and ten millions of miles distant.

On the 1st of November next it will be close to the bright Alpha Pegasi Markab, one of the four bright stars forming the well known square of Pegasus. It then pursues a Southerly course crossing the celestial equator about the middle of December. It then crosses its old path in 1846, near where it separated into two comets. At the end of February, its distance from the earth will be less than twenty millions of miles. This comet's period is about six and three-quarter years.—The superstitious are apt to accept these erratic bodies as omens of coming evil. The last time one of them took a peep over the earth, people began to prepare for the end of the world. It is likely, however, that this one will be considered as evidence of the approach of the cholera.

WEBSTER'S VEGETABLE HAIR INVIGORATOR,
IS LIKED BY ALL IN PREFERENCE TO ANY in market for ten reasons:
1. Because it invariably turns gray hair to its original color in the short space of four weeks.
2. Because it is clean and nice, and will not stain the skin.
3. Because it removes all Dandruff and Scurf, and is as harmless as water.
4. Because thousands are using it, and every body should.
5. Because it is peculiarly adapted to all classes, old and young.
6. Because it is purely vegetable—not a dye.
7. Because it kills hair eaters, and makes the hair luxuriant and soft.
8. Because it cures all humors and diseases of the scalp.
9 Because it arrests and prevents the hair from falling.
10. Because it is no humbug, but an honest article, as multitudes can testify; and if it don't prove as recommended, the money will be refunded.
Be sure and use the Invigorator according to directions on the bottle.

NORTH CAROLINA
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT OF THE CONdition of the N. C. Mutual Life Insurance Company will show that after all the vicissitudes of the war the Company is still strong, and merits the continuance of the patronage heretofore so generously bestowed.

ASSETS.

Premium notes liable to assessment,	$129,198
Bonds of solvent individuals,	23,004
	$152,202

LIABILITIES.

Losses allowed up to Jan. 1, 1865,	$35,249
Excess of assets over liabilities,	$116 953

To meet the above liabilities, the Directors have ordered the collection of the individual bonds, and an assessment of 20 per cent. on the premium notes, which should yield

Bonds,	$23,004
Assessment,	25 839
	$48 843
Losses,	35,249
An excess of	$13 594

Sufficient to cover all deficiencies.
If the Company shall be patronized by the public as before the war there will be the annual profits in cash and premium notes which may be added to the assets now in hand, for the payment of liabilities.
Nearly all the above liabilities would have been extinguished but for the refusal of claimants to receive the currency in circulation at the time of the losses. They can not reasonably complain of some delay. It will be remembered that the premium notes are the accumulations of notes given by insurers for one-half their annual premiums, which the Company had the right to require to be paid in cash. On the face of the note the insurer promises to pay whenever requested by the Directors, and all payments on assessments will be so much added to the sum insured, by diminishing to that amount, the premium note to be deducted in case of loss. Many insurers pay the whole premium in cash as a matter of choice. It is believed that the losses may be paid by the first instalment of ten per cent added to the contemplated profits; but it is the firm intention of the Directors to meet all their liabilities as promptly as the condition of the country will permit, even if to do so, it may be necessary to order the collection of all the premium notes.

DAILY SENTINEL.

FRIDAY. SEPTEMBER 29 1865.

Right Sentiments.

Extract from the speech of L. H. Chandler, Esq., delivered in Petersburg recently. Mr. C. is a candidate for Congress:

I believe that the States returning to the Union should exercise the same privileges as before the war. Now, if you wish to oppose this centralization, so act as to strengthen the hands of the President. I know that he is a conservative man. I know that certain acts of his have been severely criticised and misrepresented, but I also know that lines of policy may be dictated by circumstances and that pressure being removed, one's true self may come out in opposition to previous acts. This was proved both North and South during the war. There is an old French proverb. C'est le premier pas qui coûte; who has not had his opinions modified by the war and its events?

As an example, let us look at these questions of emancipation and of negro suffrage. How vast a change in the last four years has public opinion undergone in regard to these matters. In the North I have seen the steady march of revolution of belief; in the South how was and how is it? Then had a man in Mississippi or Virginia, in any State of the sunny South, asked concerning these schemes, the bare idea would have been hooted at, and the indignant reply would have been, "Is thy servant a dog that he should do this thing?" Now many openly favor both.

So with the President; judge him by his latest acts.

Have you seen his letter to Gov. Sharkey, of Mississippi? The Governor had organized State troops for the preservation of order, and General Slocum, a good man, and a conservative man, thinking the measure opposed to the policy of the Government, ordered their disbandment, and the turning over of their arms to the military authorities. Appeal is made to President Johnson, and he revokes the order, sustains the State authority, and says—a motto to be inscribed on the political banners of the South—"The people must be trusted with their Government."

Are these the words of a radical?

I stand here to-night under somewhat unpleasant circumstances, as some of you know. Petersburg can boast of some good natured citizens, for amongst the gentlemen in my rear, are some whose property has been libelled by my order as U. S. Attorney. Were it not for their extreme good nature, I might fear, with General Scott, "a fire in the rear." Confiscation has run riot for a few weeks in Richmond and Petersburg, but I have received instructions from Mr. Johnson prohibiting the institution of any new proceedings, until further orders.

The administration intends to be conservative, and to recognize the equal rights of all the States. We all know that President Johnson was a Union man, that he opposed secession in every shape and form, that he denounced secessionists, but he has seen the South acknowledges its subjugation, seen it come frankly forward, its people acting like heroes, like men, and not like cowardly Mexicans, saying, "We have fought bravely to our last stand, we have toiled, we have lost;" we take the oath now, and all we ask is to participate in the rights and privileges that we knew, when not a golden star had been erased from that shining banner.

Can any one doubt the honesty of these men, who, after their earnest struggle, have taken the oath?

Not!!

The man who had skulked as a coward from his expressed opinions of right, the man who was loud in his lip service, but wanting in the service of stout heart and strong arm, such a man might falsely swear; but he who backed his belief where balls were thickest, hardships greatest, at any cost of property, or risk of life, this man would never bow to an oath he did not mean to keep. I admire courage and sincerity, even though displayed in a cause I think wrong.

I am very plain on this point.

"I crook no pregnant hinges of the knee
That thrift may follow fawning."

I was no secessionist, and I don't come here to say so, but I do affirm your struggle was a brave one, that there is no parallel to it in history, except, perhaps, the seventy years of resistance of the Dutch against Spain; and I have always drank lager beer and loved cheese for the sake of that.

I believed your sincerity, and admired your pluck, as I now believe your sincerity in returning to your allegiance.

Now, what is the ground upon which the Radicals wish to exclude you from franchise and representation unless legislation suits them? Because you will not truckle to them, and say, "We were wrong, we see you were right, we are rejoiced to find it so, and thank you for convincing us." Were there a man among you who could come to me with so craven a declaration, I would know he lied.

All that is to be expected from an honest man is this: "It is decided, and against us. We have taken the oath, and will be true to all its obligations."

Now, to oppose these Radicals, who would have you little better than serfs, you must sustain the Administration. To do this, you must vote. Not voting, not sending representatives, will be to ensure the success of your most bitter enemies; and he who would have helped would say, reluctantly, "By their fruits ye shall know them; while boring for them, they turn their backs on succor and disdain my aid." All must vote, and men must be sent to the councils of the nation who can take seats, and will rightly represent you.

If they refuse to admit your members who appear duly elected, and willing to qualify by taking the required oath, they will allow us to make one of the strongest points against them—to fasten on them the desire to accomplish by indirect means the injury they could not effect directly.

The Subject of Pardons.

The President has concluded to stay his hand for a season in the matter of Alabama pardons, and to grant few, if any more, to citizens of that State, until the wheels of civil government has been fairly put in motion.

The Attorney General has decided not to consider applications for pardon in the future from individuals who have domiciled on side of the territorial limits of the United States. Such persons must first return and submit themselves in good faith to the action of the Government. The practical working of the rule will probably be to forever expatriate many prominent Rebel refugees.

Messrs. Clay, Mitchell, Mallory, Reagan and Stephens, it is stated, will shortly be released on parole.
